Chapter 8: A Day of Endless Taunting

Well, the day I've been dreading for the last week was finally here: the day of our meeting with the University administration about our relationship. I was still scared of what would happen. The possibility of losing the job I've worked so hard to get loomed in my mind. I had a full teaching day, so I left the house early to start my prep work. By this point, Noah already knew my early days. He'd usually wake up when I did – usually as soon as I got out of the bed, he'd wake up and either slowly make his way out of the bed or flop out of the bed and fall on the floor. However, on some days, like this one, he'd lay silent, so I tried to make as little noise as possible to let him get his sleep.

I left to go to campus, and within a few hours, I managed to get most of my prep work for the day finished. It was almost time for my first of many classes. I made my way to the lecture hall early, as I usually do. I set up my presentation layout on the screens and made sure the audio was going through the speakers of the room rather than the 'you-can-barely-hear-them-from-five-feet-away' speakers of the computer at the front. The class started, and about half-way through the three-hour lecture, I saw Noah appear in the window at the back of the room, leaning on the ledge, one arm holding his head. Usually, I was able to ignore him as he watched me teaching. For some reason, today of all days I couldn't: the image of him watching me eventually distracted me from my lecture to the point I paused. I stared at him through the window, and he started using his other hand to make gestures at me. Well, one gesture in particular: he'd opened his mouth a bit and started to move his hand closer and further away from it, using his tongue to make a visible bulge in his cheek. Every once and a while, he'd give me a wink, and he'd often switch between the gesture he was making and his orgasm face.

Obviously, I knew what all of it meant, and while I would have loved to get him in here and let him do it – among other things – with my body instead of his hand, I was in the middle of class. Coupled with the fact that nobody in the entire University knew we were dating, and the looming meeting with the administration about precisely that, I knew we couldn't do anything of that sort. There was still something about what he was doing that made me want him, but I had a class to teach, so I waved him off, mouthing "go away" at him. I guess I must have caught the attention of one of my students by this point, because I heard "Um, Dr. Thorpe… Who are you looking at?" from somewhere in front of me. I saw a bunch of students turn to face the window, Noah nonchalantly going back to just watching the events of my class unfold.

Embarrassed, "Just… Well… It's complicated" was all I could manage to put together before I snapped back into reality. "Let's continue – someone remind me where we were," I asked.

"You were just going through using the basic logic gates to create complex circuits," I heard from the back of the room.

"Yes, right – let's get back to that," I said before returning to lecture. The rest of the class went without incident, but Noah's actions had gotten me going, and I couldn't stop thinking about him.

COPYRIGHT © 2025-2026 by Johnny Console. All Rights Reserved.
No parts of this work may be reproduced without prior written permission of the author.

I had a bit of a break before my next class, so I went back to my office. I found Noah leaning on the door to the computer science faculty office pod waiting for me. “Dr. Thorpe, I think I need some help with my… um… circuits…” he said as he started laughing. “Do you have some time to talk?” he asked, as if he was one of the students in my class coming to get help.
“You don’t need to fake being a student in my class to see me in my office, you know that, right?” I asked him as I swiped my access card to unlock the pod door.
“Come on Cam, I’m just playing with you…”
“Yeah, I got that… Just like I got your little gestures in the middle of my class…”
“What gestures? Was I making gestures? I don’t think I was making any gestures,” he coyly said, trying to avoid the topic. I opened the door to my office. We both entered and I closed the door behind us.
“So, you didn’t make blowjob gestures and orgasm faces at me during my class?” I asked him quietly and full of playful anger. “There’s no way in hell you didn’t see that I noticed.”
“Oh yeah, those…” he said, almost like he just remembered what he did. “I was just expressing my feelings for you.”
“Obviously… but you can’t be distracting me during class like that. What if one of my students caught you?”
“Well, they didn’t, so why worry about it?” he asked, mocking me.
“Because it’s something we do have to worry about – especially since we haven’t told admin yet. Remember, the meeting’s at 3:30 today. We’ve got to be careful until we tell them. If someone reports it before we do, who knows what’ll happen. Please, just… don’t do it anymore, okay?”
“Fine, professor buzzkill,” he said, annoyed, “I’ll be innocent for the rest of the day. Can I at least kiss you in your office? The door’s closed, you don’t have a window, and as far as I could tell as we walked in, there’s nobody else here. At least let me get something.”

“If you want a kiss, you’re going to have to come and get it,” I said seductively.
“You’re applying your lessons, I see…” he said before stepping towards me and throwing his hands around my neck, “I love to see that,” he whispered, matching my seductiveness as he passionately kissed me.
“You bet,” I said as the kiss ended, “and if it’s okay with you, I’d like to practice some more.”
“You know what, you’ve captured my interest, go for it.”
“Is it okay if I feel your body, under your shirt?”
“Absolutely. I’m not going to stop you.”
“I want you to trust me,” I said as I put my hand on his cheek, carefully caressing it and kissing his lips. “I promise, I won’t touch you below the waist,” I whispered into his ear as I slowly moved my hand from his face, down through his chest and belly, over his shirt, still kissing him periodically. His body tensed up at first but quickly relaxed as it felt my gentle touch. I heard his breathing get a tad faster and deeper. His heart started beating faster and harder as he let out the slightest of moans. I stopped at his waistline, just as I promised, whispering only one word:
“Okay?”

COPYRIGHT © 2025-2026 by Johnny Console. All Rights Reserved.
No parts of this work may be reproduced without prior written permission of the author.

“You’re green and go,” he whispered back excitedly. With his permission, I slowly moved my hand under his shirt, his body shivering slightly. I felt his belly, just like I did during our dare, before moving up to his chest. I rubbed it for a bit, every once and a while giving his nipples a slight squeeze. Each squeeze brought another small moan from his mouth and a shiver radiating throughout his body. A few minutes later, I stopped, slowly took my hand out of his shirt, letting it ever so slightly graze the surface of his skin, and asked him, “How was that?”

“Wow, you’re a quick study, aren’t you?” He laughed slightly, before taking a deep breath and collecting his thoughts on the experience. “That… was a great dom moment: at the start, you took control without even touching me. You didn’t force the kiss; you made me work for it. I wanted it even more, even though I asked for it in the first place. That’s textbook domination right there,” he started. I immediately started to smile at him – who knew I, the nerdiest nerd in the world, would be taking lessons from a jock – especially on sex – and would be doing it right. He smiled back at me and continued, “you let me make most of the decisions, and the ones you made for me enhanced the experience instead of degrading it. You built some trust, set my expectations, and didn’t break the limits. Most importantly, you made me feel good – damn good – and you made me want more. More of that, and even more that we didn’t do. I didn’t want it to end. I’d say you just got your first A-plus in our private session of DOM 101. That was a big improvement, despite it being much shorter and a much more innocent experience. I loved it.”
“Aww, thanks,” I said, kissing him one more time. “You’re welcome to stay with me for my prep work, but I do have another class in about an hour.”
“Can I go with you? I’d love to actually be in the room when you’re teaching for once.”
“I don’t see why not, but gestures or anything remotely romantic is in the red zone.”
“Alright, fine,” he reluctantly agreed, rolling his eyes at me.

I ended up finishing the rest of my prep work for the day and it was once again time to head to my class, this time with Noah by my side. I didn’t go as early as I did for the first one since I knew there was a class in the room before mine, and I knew – from plenty of experience – that the instructor liked to lecture until the last possible second. This class was on mobile app development, which is one of my favourite sets of courses to teach. Noah sat in the front row of the room, and it seemed that he was interested in what I was teaching. He attentively listened to my lecture, and he even volunteered to answer questions when nobody else in the room would. At some points, he was even able to answer questions none of the other students in the class could. He was more interested in the class than half of the students who paid to take it: I sewar that if I would have given him a notebook and a pen, he would have been taking notes – that’s how invested he was. I didn’t know he had any interest in computer science, but for some reason, he seemed to enjoy my class. The class was only an hour and a half, so it went by quickly. Afterwards, I decided to poke some fun at him when everyone else had left.
“So, you’re a computer science student now?” I teased.
“What? No, why would you even ask me that?” he asked.

COPYRIGHT © 2025-2026 by Johnny Console. All Rights Reserved.
No parts of this work may be reproduced without prior written permission of the author.

“I noticed you were invested in my class – a class that’s only available to upper year computer science students. I thought you switched majors without telling me.”
“I’m still in communications – I’ve just got an interest in mobile apps… not to mention a morbid infatuation with you…”
“Aww, that’s so cute,” I said, before lowering my voice to a whisper. “I love you when you’re cute.”

The rest of my teaching day was basically back-to-back classes. Noah didn’t attend them – I guess he had a practice or something, but I’d occasionally see him in the halls between classes. I thought I briefly saw him when I went for lunch, but as the person came closer to me, I noticed it wasn’t him. What’s wrong with me today? I’m seeing Noah everywhere… I thought. Eventually, I had a bit longer of a break in my schedule. I texted Maria earlier today and asked her when she’d be in her lab, and it turns out she was there now. While I was on my way to her lab to chat, I heard “Hey Cam! Wait up!” from behind me. I turned around and once again spotted Noah, running through the hall to get to me. “What are you doing right now?” he asked me, out of breath.
“I have a break before the meeting, so I was just heading to Maria’s lab to chat with her and the rest of the gang to try and get some of the anxiety out of me while she waits for some tests to run.”
“That sounds kind of cool – would you mind if I went with you?”
“Not at all – but Maria’s working in a biosafety level 2 lab, so you’ll have to wear a lab coat, glasses and gloves the entire time, even if you never touch anything, and you’ll have to wash your hands before you leave.”
“Why? You never made me do any of that when I was in your lab.”
“I was working in a level 1 lab. Level 1 labs don’t deal with anything hazardous, so I had discretion over whether anyone needed to wear safety gear. Level 2 labs deal with chemicals or biological stuff, so they have much stricter safety rules.”
“I guess that makes sense… at least I’ll look like a real scientist.”
“Not to mention, a hot scientist,” I chimed in.
“I thought things like that were in the red zone. Red equals no-go.”
“You’re right… Let’s downgrade that to the yellow zone – it’s an empty hallway. Nobody’s around.”
“Okay, so what are the parameters for this yellow zone?” he asked.
“Let’s just say, if people are around, red. If we’re alone or with people we trust, green all the way. Sound good?”
“I think that’s a good compromise… I get to be my flirty self, within your limits. Still following your lessons.”
“Perfect… and what I said is true after all: I think you’d make a very hot scientist.”
“Oh, really? We’ll have to see, won’t we?”

COPYRIGHT © 2025-2026 by Johnny Console. All Rights Reserved.
No parts of this work may be reproduced without prior written permission of the author.

“I guess we will. Maria’s lab is on the floor above us, let’s go,” I said as we entered the stairwell and went to the next floor.

Standing outside of Maria’s lab, I pressed the intercom button and heard its distinctive chime. The door clicked open, so I pushed it and led Noah into the clean room. “This lab is different than mine: there are two parts. Right now, we’re in the clean room – this is where we’ll get suited up in sterile protective equipment and where we’ll wash our hands when we leave. Once we’re ready, we can go through that door to the working area. We just have to be careful that we don’t contaminate anything. Time to get suited up – just remember the PPE rules.”
“Yeah, yeah, I know,” he said as I showed him how to follow the sterile procedure.
“Great, now that we’re sterile, we can go in,” I said as I led him to the entry to the work area and pressed the foot switch to open it. We walked through, and I saw Maria, Braeden and Mitchell all sitting around one of the workstations. “Hey Maria, how’s the research coming?” I asked.
“It’s going well – at least as well as I can hope for,” she started saying before noticing Noah coming into the lab. “What’s he doing here?” she asked.
“He’s with me for a meeting we have later, so I thought I would bring him along. Don’t worry, he’s sterile – I watched him get suited up, and he didn’t break sterility at all. I’ve already told him about the rules of a level 2 lab.”
Maria sighed deeply, before saying, “Fine. If you watched him, I guess he can stay. If he does anything – anything at all – that jeopardizes safety or breaks my sterile field, he’s gone. I’m not losing months of research because he decided to be an idiot.”
“I won’t touch anything, I promise,” Noah said.
“You better not…” Maria glared at him.
“Can I use my phone to take some pictures of me in this whole getup?” he asked.
Maria’s jaw tightened, and I quickly stepped in before she could say anything. “That would break sterility, so no. We can get pictures in the clean room when we’re done,” I told him. She relaxed a bit, giving Noah a sharp glare before returning to her work.

We all got to talking, when suddenly Braeden looked at me and said, “There’s something I’ve been wanting to ask you for a while,” he paused. “Ever since your party.”
“Oh yeah? What’s on your mind?” I said, inviting him to ask his question.
“What happened in the closet? What were you doing when we caught you?” His question made everyone in the room stop what they were doing and stare at the pair of us with the standard ‘deer-in-headlights’ look of surprise.
“We were…” I started before Noah intervened.
“Just getting to know each other a bit more,” he said, trying to keep things discreet.
“By taking your shirts off and feeling each other up? You’re going to have to explain that,” Braeden asked.

COPYRIGHT © 2025-2026 by Johnny Console. All Rights Reserved.
No parts of this work may be reproduced without prior written permission of the author.

Noah looked at me with an expression that very clearly said 'can I please tell them?' I thought about it for a few seconds before giving him a slight nod and telling him, "Yellow." Everyone seemed to know what I meant: you can tell them… but be careful.
He started nervously explaining: "Well… we started kissing, like we were after Cameron dared me to kiss someone, then I guess you could say things… heated up a bit."
"That's a bit of an understatement!" Braeden exclaimed.
"But that's not all. Later that night, we…" Noah continued, pausing for a second to figure out how to carefully explain what we did. "… had some fun in the bedroom," he was finally able to say.

"Wait, hold up – you screwed Cameron?" Maria asked, holding a micropipette as she prepared the last sample for her test. The others were just as surprised as she was.
"More like… Cameron screwed me," Noah carefully explained. I instantly felt embarrassed. They all knew I was gay, but something about him telling everyone that he let me top him sparked an immense sense of embarrassment for some reason.
Everyone was just as shocked, if not more, to hear the news. Maria yelled "Woah!" and dropped one of her sample tubes, quietly muttering "damn it" under her breath. Mitchell yelled "What?", then Braeden went "Really?" Noah and me both nodded.
"So, how was it?" Maria asked Noah, smiling at us as she rushed to clean up the mess she'd made.
"Aren't you missing a sample?" I asked her.
"I don't need it – I've got more than enough to run the tests. I'm more curious about what he just said," she said, sliding her fully prepared sample tray into her equipment and running the test.
"So, spill! How was it?" she asked again.

"I loved it. We both loved it. It was absolutely the best sex I've ever had," Noah confidently replied. "It felt good taking his virginity, and in a way, letting him take mine… I even had to teach him a few things. He's working on his domination mindset, and he's damn good at aftercare," he continued, laughing slightly.
"That was a little close to red, Noah," I said sharply.
"Sorry," he replied. "It just came out… I couldn't stop it."
"Domination mindset?" Mitchell asked, "You let him dominate you?"
"Yeah… He's my Master. I'm his bratty little slave boy. He's still training me, but we're getting there. I love it. There's nothing wrong with that," Noah said. Brat? He's not a brat, and Training? We haven't done any of that. I don't know what any of that even means, I thought. I was about to ask him what he meant, but I managed to bite my tongue – I wasn't sure how long I'd be able to keep it buried, but I wasn't about to discuss the intimate details of our relationship with anyone else but Noah. He is, after all, the only other person in this relationship.
"I know, I just expected it to go the other way. The athletic guy usually dominates the nerdy girl in all the porn I've ever watched."

COPYRIGHT © 2025-2026 by Johnny Console. All Rights Reserved.
No parts of this work may be reproduced without prior written permission of the author.

“Well… You could say our relationship’s a bit… different.”
“You’re in a relationship now?” Braeden asked.
“Yep. We’ve been best friends since we were little, and after we found out that we both had feelings for each other, we decided that we should start a relationship. He’s officially my boyfriend,” I chimed in, a smile growing across my face.
“Look at you, landing the captain of the hockey team as your first-ever boyfriend… and screwing him, dominating him even, after your graduation party… I never knew you had any game,” Mitchell said.
“I know… neither did I. How lucky am I to get the boy of my dreams…” I said, leaning over to Noah to kiss him slightly, making sure not to touch anything in Maria’s sterile field. Everyone gave us an endearing “aww” at the same time.

I wanted to say something to prove to them I was the dominant one. It was obvious they still didn’t believe us, even after Noah’s somewhat intimate description. I wasn’t sure if that would be okay, so I looked to Noah. He seemingly read my mind saying, “go for it. Green,” with a giant smile on his face. I could almost hear his voice say Let’s see what you’ve got, nerd, even though he wouldn’t dare to say it.
Wow, okay, I thought. What can I say… Oh, I know… “The boy who listens to my every command and lets me bend him to my every whim,” I finally said, voice deep and almost heavy. Their jaws dropped. They all let out a deep gasp. Noah’s face flushed with rosy pinkness that quickly deepened to a light red hue. I surprised them. I surprised him. Hell, I surprised myself.
“Cameron!” Noah screamed. Did I go too far? I thought. No safe word. I didn’t.
“Is it not true?” I asked, staring directly into his eyes.
“Y—yes, b—but…” he stuttered. I cocked my head at him, eyes full of playful anger. Don’t you dare, I thought. He read my mind again and quickly said, “yes, master.”
“Wow, you really let him dominate you… I thought you were lying,” gasped Mitchell.
“Same here – that was intense,” followed Maria.
“That’s pretty much our relationship. Nice, but intense at the same time. I like it. And, based on everything I’ve heard come out of his mouth… he does too. But… nobody else knows – you can’t tell anyone, at least for a while. We’ve got a meeting with admin today, and we’re both a bit nervous about it,” I told the group. Everyone offered their support to us and our newfound relationship, which made us both feel good – like we made the right move that night, and that I made the right decision allowing Noah to tell everyone. Knowing we had our friends’ support – at least for me – made some of the anxiety go away, but I still had plenty left that nothing could possibly take away.

Eventually, it was time for us to leave to go to our meeting. We asked Mitchell to accompany us to the clean room so that Noah could get his pictures. He was leaving anyways to do his own research, so he had no problems being our photographer. After Mitchell safely got out of his gear, Noah handed him his phone. Sure, it broke his sterility, but we were in the clean room and leaving anyways, so it didn't really matter. Noah got a picture of himself posing in the safety gear, followed by some photos of the two of us: one of me holding him in my arms, one of us standing together, and one of us kissing. From the clean room window, I saw Maria and Braeden watching us the entire time. The pictures seemed to satisfy him, so Mitchell left. I showed him where to put his safety gear to be re-sterilized, and we both washed our hands before leaving to go to the other side of campus for our meeting.

COPYRIGHT © 2025-2026 by Johnny Console. All Rights Reserved.
No parts of this work may be reproduced without prior written permission of the author.

COPYRIGHT © 2025-2026 by Johnny Console. All Rights Reserved.
No parts of this work may be reproduced without prior written permission of the author.